Like the great artist that she is, Mrs-Fiske has surrounded berself with a splendid company. Each one is a massiver at character delineation. Margan Berry portrays the levely ingenious she has a very appealing state yets ence that won her a host of friends. Victor Beront, who was hast seen in Memphis nine years ago, when he same ported Lilliam Russell, gave a spiculid portrayal of youthful Galbean fire said impetuosity. Joseph Greene partrayal diported of Dere Clement with dignity and feeling, and Edward Emery in the role of Georges Durand zave a rendition of the quick-tempered locable Creek that was thoroughly enjoyed. The rest of the company was very acceptable. Melaine Cardanne, portrayed by Melania Gordon, was a clever piece of work that was cameo-clear and sparkling with personality.

As In all her plays, the scenery is worthy of the acting. In "Salvation Neil" she reproduced an East Side tenement with Holbeln-like realism. In this play she has a setting that is the last word in fidelity. It is a notto with tiny fountains filled with flowers that might have been lifted bodily from some of the courtyards along Rue Royale or Rue Dauphine. In brief, the story of the play is as follows.

Nelly Daventry (Mrs. Fliske) forsakes the escargots, pare do follogras and modiste shops of Rue de la Paix of Nelly Daventry (Mrs. Fliske) forsakes the escargets, pate do fol gras and modiste shops of Rue de la Paix of Paris, for the bullerbalesc pralines and lagniappe of New Orleins. Sho finds her niece, Delhime Falaise (Martan Berry), engaged to Felly Durand (Victor Benoit). She is so prefty she makes a farhion plate look like a chromo and so sweet she causes the heroines of Sunday school fiction to resemble vampires. No wonder Felix loved her. Felix takes after his father—whenever he is broke—has a hair-trigger temper and an explosive disposition that would make dynamite ashamed of itself. In former years the father of Felix and Mis Nelly were engaged, but he makes as good a lover as a Bolshevist does a citizen. Realizing that the flatter the dish the fewer the some he tries to make trouble between his son and Delphine. But Mis Nelly straightens everything out and Durand is glad to make up. Mis Nelly doesn't need to. She has been made up all day.

Elderly People Need This In Medicine Chest

To relieve chronic constipation, always keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin handy.

NEARLY all people as they advance in age suffer from chronic constipa-tion. Many, however, are indifferent to the laxative they use, on the theory that "they are all alike." That is a greatmistake.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, for example, is a mild, gentle liquid laxative, and it does not lose its effect with repeated use. It so trains the bowel muscles that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with.

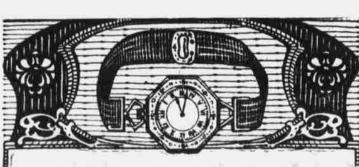

A sixty-cent bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last many months. The prescription was written thirty years ago by Dr. W. B. Caldwell, a well-known family doctor, who is himself now in his 82nd year and can appreciate what chronic constipation must mean to elderly people; how it brings on headaches, colds, loss of ap-petite and sleep, heaviness and a general dull feeling.

Every home that has an elderly man or woman should be provided with a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. High million bottles were bought at Monticello, Illinois. Every-Eight million bottles were bought at drug stores last year. It is a truly wonderful constipation remedy.
